

Bar Mitzvah

In Jewish life, the Bar Mitzvah or “coming of age” is a major milestone in the life of a young man. One of our young members marks his 13th birthday, at the “Kotel” or Western Wall in Jerusalem.

The traditional celebration of a Jewish boy becoming a man at the Western Wall which once surrounded the Temple where Yeshua taught and prayed.

Bar Mitzvah celebration in the congregation with the laying on of hands.

Reading the Torah – God’s Holy Scriptures, with the traditional phylacteries, based on Deuteronomy 6:8

The Teenage Years

The teenage years are in our experience often the most important – spiritually speaking – in a believer’s life. It is the time when the greatest temptations will be thrown at a young person with the least amount of experience and spiritual tools to overcome evil. It is the time when teenagers need and crave friends and acceptance.

In Israel, most believing teenagers are alone in their schools – with no other believing friends. That is why the ministry to our young people is so important. That is why they must have friends in the congregation. To us – our children of all ages are top priority.

